Kate Ford is organizing a meeting with all boathouse user groups some time either end of July or beginning of August.

Liz Albert requested that a 2nd key be made for the new wakeless launch.

KC is not available to coach another full session of Learn to Scull this summer. As an alternative, she can coach a shorter follow-up session for LtScull grads and anyone else who would like to join. It will be 1 session/week for 4 weeks, minimum 4 participants in order for it to run. Participants will need to be MRRA members. Cost TBD.

Will ask Learn to Sweep coach or program director what happens if there are more students than there are seats in a boat. answer (Karen talking with Erin Heinhold): if there are excess, they either ride in the launch or erg. James Gilchrist the coach does not put the learn to sweep rowers into singles or doubles.

During Kate Ford's brief visit, discussed possible ways to keep the docks cleaner of bird droppings, where the MRRA boat trailers can be stored, keeping the area clear for the convenience of the National Park boat tours, a possible clean-up day where all boathouse users help out.
